

Shenandoah Telecommunications Company Announces Expected Use of Proceeds from $1.95 billion Sale of Wireless Assets and Operations to T-Mobile

February 3, 2021

Shentel expects to issue an $18.75 per share special dividend to Shentel shareholders

The Company Provides Preliminary 2020 Financial Results and 2021 Financial Outlook

EDINBURG, Va., Feb. 03, 2021 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Shenandoah Telecommunications Company ("Shentel") (NASDAQ: SHEN) announced today the expected uses of the approximately $1.5 billion of after-tax proceeds to be received from the sale of Shentel's Wireless assets and operations ("Shentel Wireless") to T-Mobile US, Inc. ("T-Mobile"). Shentel currently expects to use the proceeds to, among other things:

- As required by Shentel's credit agreement, repay approximately $702 million of outstanding term loans and swap liabilities and terminate the respective agreements;
- Issue a special dividend of $18.75 per share to Shentel's shareholders;
- Provide adequate liquidity for growth and potential strategic acquisitions; and
- Provide liquidity for general corporate purposes.

Shentel expects to pay the special dividend in the second quarter 2021 after the close of the Shentel Wireless transaction, subject to the approval of Shentel's Board of Directors.

"We are pleased to provide clarity on the expected sale price of Shentel Wireless and our ability to return significant value to our shareholders," said President and CEO, Christopher E. French. "The expected transaction closing in the second quarter along with the continued rapid expansion of our Glo Fiber to the Home and Beam fixed wireless services are part of our transformation to a broadband centric company. Shentel has a long history of growth and technology innovation and we are very excited about the new opportunities to bring state-of-the-art broadband to our customers and create value for our shareholders."

2020 Preliminary Unaudited Financial Results and 2021 Outlook

Shentel is providing preliminary unaudited financial data for its continuing operations for the year ended December 31, 2020, and its financial outlook for 2021, as reflected in the table below. Shentel's continuing operations include its Broadband and Tower reporting segments.

This release contains forward-looking statements about Shentel regarding, among other things, its business strategy, and its prospects. These statements can be identified by the use of forward-looking terminology such as "believes," "estimates," "expects," "intends," "may," "will," "should," "could," or "anticipates" or the negative or other variation of these or similar words, or by discussions of strategy or risks and uncertainties. The forward-looking statements are based upon management's beliefs, assumptions and current expectations and may include comments as to Shentel's beliefs and expectations as to future events and trends affecting its business that are necessarily subject to uncertainties, many of which are outside Shentel's control. Although management believes that the expectations reflected in the forward-looking statements are reasonable, forward-looking statements, including with respect to Shentel's 2021 financial outlook, preliminary unaudited historical financial results, and consummating the sale of Shentel Wireless, are not, and should not be relied upon as, a guarantee of future performance or results, nor will they necessarily prove to be accurate indications of the times at which such performance or results will be achieved, and actual results may differ materially from those contained in or implied by the forward-looking statements as a result of various factors. For example, this release discusses the anticipated sale of Shentel Wireless to T-Mobile, but Shentel and T-Mobile have not yet entered into a definitive agreement with respect to the anticipated transaction, and any such definitive agreement will be subject to certain closing conditions, including receipt of certain required regulatory approvals. As a result, there can be no assurance that Shentel and T-Mobile will enter into such a definitive agreement or that the closing of the transactions contemplated by any such definitive agreement will occur or will not be delayed. This release also discusses estimated after-tax proceeds of the sale of Shentel Wireless, but the actual amount of such proceeds or the Company's use of such proceeds may differ materially from the expectations set forth in this release. A discussion of other factors that may cause actual results to differ from management's projections, forecasts, estimates and expectations is available in Shentel's filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission. Those factors may include natural disasters, pandemics and outbreaks of contagious diseases and other adverse public health developments, such as COVID-19, changes in general economic conditions, increases in costs, changes in regulation and other competitive factors. The forward-looking statements included are made only as of the date of the statement. Shentel undertakes no obligation to revise or update such statements to reflect current events or circumstances after the date hereof, or to reflect the occurrence of unanticipated events, except as required by law.

Non-GAAP Financial Measure Adjusted OIBDA

Adjusted OIBDA represents Operating income from continuing operations before depreciation, amortization, stock-based compensation and certain other items of revenue, expense, gain or loss not reflective of our operating performance.

Adjusted OIBDA is a non-GAAP financial measure that we use to evaluate our operating performance in comparison to our competitors. Management believes that analysts and investors use Adjusted OIBDA as a supplemental measure of operating performance to facilitate comparisons with other telecommunications companies. This measure isolates and evaluates operating performance by excluding the cost of financing (e.g., interest expense), as well as the non-cash depreciation and amortization of past capital investments, non-cash share-based compensation expense, and certain other items of revenue, expense, gain or loss not reflective of our operating performance.

Adjusted OIBDA has limitations as an analytical tool and should not be considered in isolation or as a substitute for operating income, net income or any other measure of financial performance reported in accordance with GAAP.

The following table reconciles Adjusted OIBDA to operating income from continuing operations, which we consider to be the most directly comparable GAAP financial measure:
